A bridge too far

Crash bang wallop: Firefighters survey the damage

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

FIVE people were treated in hospital after a double decker party bus had its roof sliced off when it collided with a railway bridge in Tottenham in the early hours of Saturday morning.

Fire crews used cutting gear to free three people trapped after the bus became wedged under the bridge in St Loy's Road at 4.05am. Another 21 people were treated at the scene for minor injuries.

None of those taken to hospital suffered life-changing injuries.

The incident happened just yards from Tottenham fire station, in St Loy's Road.

Firefighters from the station were first on the scene, having heard the loud bang as the bus hit the bridge.

The double decker is owned by a hospitality company which hires its out for parties, including hen and stag nights.

It is fitted out as a mobile club with a bar, a dance floor and toilets, along with staff.

How the accident happened is being investigated by police.

A police spokesman said: "Police were called to St Loy's Road at 4:10am after a bus was in collision with a bridge.

"London Ambulance Service and London Fire Brigade were called to the scene.

"A number of people were treated at the scene by LAS for minor injuries, but did not require hospital treatment."

The road was shut to traffic throughout Saturday morning while the wrecked bus was removed and Network Rail checked that the bridge had not been damaged structurally.

'Delay decision over town hall'

THE decision to grant plans to turn historic Hornsey Town Hall into a hotel and homes should be delayed, the Lib Dems opposition demanded this week, so Haringey Council's watchdog committee can examine it.

The council's cabinet unanimously agreed at a meeting last Thursday night to press ahead with the proposals by the local authority's preferred development partner The Fast East Company to redevelop the site.

However, the Lib Dems have submitted a formal request for the decision to be called-in, requiring the council's overview and scrutiny committee to review it.

Announcing the decision last week, the council said that the proposals would secure a £27million investment to restore the art deco building.

Sex predator jailed

A "SEXUAL predator", who posed as a cab driver to sexually assault a 20-year-old woman, has been sentenced to four-and-a-half-years in jail.

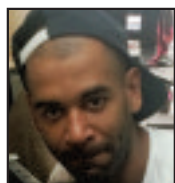

Ahmed Abdirahman Yusuf, 31, of Woodside Road, Wood Green, used his own car as an illegal minicab to carry out the assault in February.

Yusuf picked up his victim in Soho and offered her a cheap fare to her home in Battersea, in south London, but instead drove in the opposite direction to his home.

He made sexual remarks of a "threatening nature" to the victim, forcefully kissed her and inappropriately touched her.

He was found guilty of one count of sexual assault and sentenced at the Old Bailey last Thursday.

He has also been placed on the sex offenders' register and is subject to a sexual offences prevention order indefinitely.

Police seek trio of witnesses after fatal stabbing

MURDER squad detectives want to trace three witnesses who may hold vital clues to the fatal stabbing of a man outside a Wood Green pub.

The three people helped Vincent Harvey, 33, following the attack in the early hours of Saturday morning outside the Jolly Anglers pub, in Station Road. They also flagged down an ambulance.

Police were called at about 3.20am and officers and the London Ambulance Service attended.

Other potential witnesses among 30 people outside the pub when the stabbing took place refused to assist police or provided false contact details when interviewed. There have been no arrests.

Detective Chief Inspector, Noel McHugh from the Met Police's Homicide and Major Crime Command, said that there was a large number of people in and around the pub at the time of the stabbing.

He said: "It is vital that anyone who saw this incident, or the events leading up to the incident, get in contact with police.

"A number of people have come forward and our investigation is progressing, but we know that more than 30 people were outside of the pub when the incident took place.

Anyone with any information - including images and footage - should call the incident room on 020 8785 8099 or the police non-emergency line on 101. To give information anonymously contact Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111 or visit crimestoppers-uk.org

Mystery benefactor comes to rescue of special needs club

Generous donations leave volunteers 'bowled over'

By Clare Casey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

Amazing: Harriet Piercy and Jamie Ashton with son Joshua Ashton

A KIND-HEARTED benefactor touched by the story of an autistic club facing closure has paid their rent for a year to keep it going.

Zebra Children's Club, in Enfield, said it had been "bowled over" by the kindness of people after the club's was told in the Advertiser last month and simultaneously a crowdfunding appeal was launched.

Hailed as a "lifeline" by parents, the Zebra Children's Club was founded 18 months ago by two parent carers, Harriet Piercy and her partner Jamie Ashton, who were struggling to find somewhere for their autistic son, Joshua Ashton, 10, to socialise.

But dwindling donations and a failed sponsorship deal left them behind with their rent at Boleyn Community Hall, in St Martin's Close, Enfield.

Harriet, of Merton Road, Enfield, said: "We'd already had to reduce the number of sessions we had from weekly to fortnightly and things were looking quite bad for us, so it's amazing that someone has come forward to pay our rent. I just never would have imagined this.

"It feels like a huge weight has been lifted and we can now concentrate on the important things at the club, not the finances.

"The person who paid the rent and another gentleman who gave us £250 after reading the story both want to remain anonymous because they said they weren't doing it for the publicity."

The club has sensory equipment, a ball pond, music and arts and crafts, but above all it is a safe social setting where "children can attend without judgement and prejudice".

Autistic children and those with learning difficulties meet every fortnight and there is a separate session once a fortnight for disabled adults.

There is a small charge for those who use the services and at the moment the organisation runs at a loss.

The club has just applied for charitable status which Harriet is hoping will open up other possible funding streams.

Council ratifies shift to fortnightly garden waste collections

RESIDENTS' garden waste bins will be emptied fortnightly instead of weekly from April.

Enfield Council's cabinet agreed the decision at its meeting on Wednesday evening last week.

It follows a public consultation after it was announced last year that the council was scrapping free weekly green bin collections as part of spending cuts. Residents were given the choice of paying £60 a year for a weekly green bin service combined with food waste collection, or have their garden waste collected fortnightly for free. They overwhelmingly opted for the latter.

Daniel Anderson, the council's cabinet member for environment, said: "Minded by the results of the consultation, cabinet has agreed to move to fortnightly green bin collections."

"However, residents can be rest assured that we will continue to provide weekly black bin and blue bin recycling collections. Surprisingly, green bin collections are non-statutory and many councils now routinely provide the service on a fortnightly basis, or even less frequently. In addition, some also charge for the removal of green bins."

Information on the new collection arrangements will be sent to residents. To find out about how to recycle, visit: <https://new.enfield.gov.uk/services/rubbish-and-recycling>

Students offer help to people on the breadline

A SCHOOL has donated more than 1,000 food items to provide emergency supplies for people living on the breadline across the borough of Enfield.

A committee of ten sixth-form pupils organised a harvest appeal at Chace Community School last week for North Enfield Foodbank, in Lumina Way.

Students and staff at the school, in Churchbury Lane, Enfield, contributed staple food produce including cereal and packaged and tinned food.

The donations will provide 395 meals, which will be divided into boxes and distributed by the foodbank to members of the community in need of basic supplies.

Head girl Ellen Davenport-Pleasance, 17, who organises charity events with head boy Ben Glazebrook and other students at Chace school, said they wanted to help members of the community.

“People think about other countries who need help, but there are many people in our own community who are in desperate need,” said Ellen.

Since last October North Enfield Foodbank has provided meals to 6,271 people across the borough through donations and support from The Trussell Trust.

Kerry Coe, manager at North Enfield Foodbank, said: “We completely rely on donations from the community and it’s through their generosity that we are able to continue helping people.”

“We wanted this month’s charity event to make a difference and we felt it was our duty to give something back.”

Could these teens be Hillary’s Trump card?

By Priya Kingsley-Adam

priya.kingsley-adam@nlhnews.co.uk

FOUR sixth-form students from Enfield could be American presidential candidate Hillary Clinton’s trump card as the race for the White House enters the crucial final weeks.

The A-level pupils from Kingsmead Secondary School, in Southbury Road, jet off to the United States on Saturday to join the Democrat hopeful on the campaign trail as part of a two-week-long trip organised by an education charity.

There is just over a fortnight campaigning remaining until the election and her Republican rival Donald Trump is trailing in the polls following allegations he sexually harassed a number of women.

The teenagers will spend 12 days in Florida helping the Democrat campaign persuade undecided electors to vote for Mrs Clinton.

The Kingsmead students will join students from four other UK schools as part of the programme being funded by the Transformation Trust charity, which offers opportunities for young people from disadvantaged backgrounds by developing confidence and employability.

The students will take part in evening debates to test each other’s campaigning skills and will be equipped with strategies on how to successfully campaign in the vital weeks before Americans cast their votes.

They will also learn campaign skills for the Republican congressional races and take a tour of the president’s official residency at the White House in Washington DC.

One of the students, Chardonnae Deslandes, 17, said she believed Mrs Clinton had far more political experience than Mr Trump.

“She has been Secretary of State and first lady and knows her way around the White House.”

Fellow sixth-former Naomi Mostafiz, said: “They’ve never had a woman in power and although they might think she’s not the best choice a lot of people favour her over Donald Trump.”

Head girl Ellie Watson said seeing the American process in practice would be “amazing”.

Hats off to Hillary: Naomi Mostafiz, Chardonnae Deslandes, biology teacher Maroulla Richardson, Ellie Watson and Berkem Billuroglu

“It’s all about the hype, the media, who can be the most outrageous,” she said.

Head boy Berkem Billuroglu added: “I want to find out why people will vote for Trump and why there’s so much negativity around the election.”

Teacher Maroulla Richardson, who will be accompanying the four, said it was a trip they would remember for the rest of their lives.

“It will be very demanding, but they’ll need resilience and motivation,” she added.

Newly discovered tram map ‘is a slice of social history’

IT might not be a treasure map, but a rare find in a loft has got historians and transport enthusiasts excited.

An enamel map, estimated to be roughly 100 years old and featuring the various tram routes and companies which ran them through Enfield and neighbouring Barnet and Haringey, has come to light.

It was discovered, of all places, in the loft of the premises of the borough’s historical group The Enfield Society, in Jubilee Hall, Parsonage Lane, Enfield, where it had been kept in storage.

The map is a fascinating snapshot of the period when north London’s suburbs were burgeoning and electric trams were the main form of public transport to reach them.

The map also shows a very different London Underground to the one we are familiar with today. For example, the Piccadilly line between Cockfosters and Finsbury Park had yet to be built. Similarly, the Northern line extension from Highgate to High Barnet did not exist.

On Friday last week, the chairman of The Enfield Society David Cockle presented the map to the Enfield Museum, in the Dugdale Centre, in London Road, Enfield Town, where it will be exhibited. “While checking material for the society’s own 80th anniversary exhibition, at the museum we stumbled upon the map,” explained David.

“It is in remarkably good condition in spite of its age, though it has traces of cement on the back, where it appears to have been used as a board to mix cement on.”

Museum officer Jan Metcalfe described the map “as a real slice of social history”.

“The names of lost cinemas, music halls and former town halls are detailed along the routes that the trams served,” she said.

Prison killing sparks concerns over safety

By Fiona O'Cleirigh

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A COUNCILLOR has joined the family of an Enfield man stabbed to death in jail last week in criticising prison security.

Jamal Mahmoud, the father of a child under a year old and a member of the borough's Somali community was attacked in Pentonville prison on Tuesday last week. Two other men were also stabbed and critically injured.

A member of the notorious Get Money gang, the 21-year-old, from Turkey Street, was just three months into a sentence of six years and six months for robbery and gun crime.

A fellow prisoner, 34, is due to appear at Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court via a video link from Pentonville tomorrow (Thursday) charged with murder.

Edmonton Green ward councillor Abdul Abdullahi, who represents the borough's Somali community, echoed the concerns of Mr Mahmoud's family about shortcomings in the care provided by prison authorities to protect inmates.

"I am very saddened by the loss of a young life in such an appalling manner and my condolences and sympathies go out to the family," he said.

Stabbed to death: Jamal Mahmoud was attacked in prison

"It is tragic that our youth are not safe, neither on the streets nor in prison.

"Prison is not only for punishment, it is also supposed to be for rehabilitation," Mr Abdullahi added.

"So how can rehabilitation be possible in such an environment, in a place where knives and weapons can be got hold of? That should be addressed."

Mr Mahmoud's cousin Amal

Egeh called for a review of prison security. She said: "We blame the prison service because people shouldn't be able to get hold of sharp objects in prison."

"How can the prison be so negligent as that, to allow harm to prisoners? The safety and security system is a shambles."

The Prison Service declined to comment on Mr Mahmoud's death, while police investigations continue.

MP prepares for a Halloween sleepover with a difference

MP DAVID Burrowes is sleeping rough for a night to help raise vital funds for the homeless.

The MP for Enfield Southgate has been a long-time campaigner for the thousands of people who sleep on the street and he will be bedding down in the open air at Lord's Cricket Ground on Monday to raise money for the homeless charity Depaul UK.

Mr Burrowes said: "Every year about 80,000 young people in the UK experience homelessness.

"I want people to sponsor me to help ensure that no young person faces a frightening and perilous night on the streets."

Official figures show that homelessness has risen to its highest level for nearly a decade.

A total of 15,170 households was classed as homeless in the three months to June this year – a jump of 10 per cent on the same period last year.

A third of those are in London, according to new figures from the Department for Communities and Local Government.

Mr Burrowes is taking a lead role in supporting a private member's bill, brought about by fellow Tory Bob Blackman on homeless reduction.

The bill seeks to place a duty on local authorities to intervene earlier to prevent homelessness.

The proposed legislation will stop local authorities requiring vulnerable people to prove a "certain level of vulnerability", which currently leads many to only help those who have slept rough for at least one night.

The great outdoors?: Enfield Southgate David Burrowes

Mr Burrowes said the bill would be a test of Prime Minister Theresa May's social justice credentials.

He said: "It is a scandal in 2016 that we have this level of homelessness.

"Every individual life is one that is shattered and diminished without a secure home above their heads.

"The government is committed to social justice and this is a key test of the government's social justice credentials."

Homelessness charity Crisis described the figures as "appalling" and is backing the bill.

Crisis chief executive Jon Sparkes said: "We need a change in the law to prevent more people from losing their home and to make sure all homeless people can get the help they need.

"Prevention has already been shown to work in Wales, where it has dramatically reduced the need for people to be re-housed."

There are many items that are not so obviously valuable and this is where the professional valuer's expertise comes in.

There are times when the exposure of an auction is beneficial – let our experts help you to decide, but many items, where a known or intrinsic value can be simply assessed such as Gold, are just not suited for sale at auction.

Cloudy2Clear Announce Trusted Trader Partnership

ADVERTORIAL

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which? Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? have endorsed Cloudy2Clear's long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. "Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 25 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Enfield, Edmonton, Palmers Green, Winchmore Hill & Southgate areas and manager Richard Power agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Richard a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Car thief 'dumped baby on doorstep'

'Callous' teen gets two-year custodial sentence

By Clare Casey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A TEENAGER, who stole a car with two children inside, then abandoned the baby on a doorstep, has been locked up.

Martin Cawley, 19, took the car when the children's mother stopped to go into a newsagent in Kempe Road, Bulls Moor.

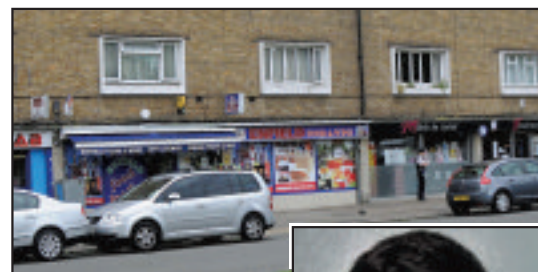

A 12-year-old girl escaped by jumping out of the vehicle. A baby boy remained trapped – strapped into his car seat – and was later found in Cheshunt.

Cawley, of no fixed address, pleaded guilty at Wood Green Crown Court to kidnap, child abduction and aggravated taking and driving away.

The incident happened at about 12.45pm on Saturday July 2 when the 27-year-old mum parked "for a few seconds" outside a shop, leaving the car keys in the ignition.

The baby was found while he was being looked after by a woman who discovered the 11-month-old on her doorstep.

Cawley was arrested on July 19. He was sentenced at the Wood Green Crown Court on

Guilty: Martin Cawley, right, stole the car while the children's mother visited a newsagent in Kempe Road, above

Tuesday last week to two years in a young offenders' institution.

Detective Inspector Chris Rixon, from Enfield CID, said: "Martin Cawley is an opportunist thief who showed a callous lack of regard for the welfare of the two small children in the car he stole."

"He put the lives of the little girl and baby boy in jeopardy, subjecting them to an awful ordeal."

"The fact that a girl so young threw herself out of the moving vehicle just shows how frightened she was.

"She is very fortunate as jumping out on to a busy road could have resulted in her sustaining significant injuries or even worse, had she been hit by an oncoming car."

On their scooters: Youngsters playing in the street in Devonshire Road, Palmers Green

Moves afoot to get children back playing in streets

By Clare Casey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

ENFIELD is about to become a trailblazer for a new wave of “child-friendly” streets where cars are banned in favour of youngsters playing.

Over the last three years, Play Streets were rolled out in two thirds of London boroughs by the charity London Play to get children playing outside, meeting their neighbours and enjoying the fresh air.

Enfield has a particularly high concentration of these streets where neighbours regularly agree to temporarily close their streets, with the council's approval, to through traffic.

Devonshire Road, Old Park Road, New River Crescent, Riverside Gardens, all in Palmers Green, The Mall, in Southgate, and Orpington Road, in Winchmore Hill, are all running play streets.

Paul Hocker, the development director of London Play, said: “Enfield has been chosen to pilot an exciting new initiative called Play Quarters. It will essentially build on the success of play streets to strengthen their links with one another and with the surrounding community.

“Our aim is to return to children some of the independence that has been lost in recent years – walking with friends to school, the park, the shops, or a neighbouring play street – something which used to be a normal everyday occurrence.”

A dedicated leader will be in place in the borough from early next year, funded by the Big Lottery.

The leader will launch an app that will map out play streets, safe walking routes and supportive retailers. Shops will have signs highlighting them as Play Quarters partners, showing children that the whole community “has their well-being in mind”.

Safe walking routes to the park will be developed on weekends with groups led by the dedicated leader.

Play and childhood awareness sessions will be provided for the public service workforce – street cleaners, traffic wardens, bus drivers, police officers and others – to ensure the area is “child ready”.

Mr Hocker added: “Children have not changed. Their innate desire to play and make friends through play remains the same as it was 50 years ago. But the reality is that on an average day, most children play outside for less than 30 minutes – and one in five children does not play outside at all.

“This suggests that across Enfield almost 17,000 children do not play out. Children are spending twice as long inside on screens as they are playing outside.”

Deadline for secondary school applications is just days away

PARENTS are being reminded that they have less than a week to submit applications for next year's secondary school intake.

The deadline for admissions is next Monday (October 31) and Enfield Council is urging parents to submit them in time to avoid missing out on their first choice.

The council says that 91.53 per cent of pupils who started at secondary school last month were offered their top three choices after their applications were submitted within the time limit.

Ayfer Orhan, the council's cabinet member for education, children's services and protection, said: “There is a wide range of fantastic schools in Enfield and parents can be sure that wherever their children go they will be well taught and looked after.

“We have a rapidly growing population and we are working hard to provide extra school places and improve standards each year. Enfield is very much a success story when it comes to providing pupils of all backgrounds a superb education and giving them the opportunities they need to flourish.

“But it is incredibly important that applications are submitted early so that they can be processed in good time and parents maximise the chances of their children going to a school of their choice,” Ms Orhan added.

FAMILY ANNOUNCEMENTS

The hunt is on as former policeman joins TV team

JOHN MACDONALD-FULTON

By Clare Casey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

AND we're off. Another series of TV series Hunted is under way and a Southgate Rotarian is one of the "expert hunters" handed the task of tracking 10 people given the status of fugitives.

As a former Detective Inspector with the Metropolitan Police, with more than 30 years' experience, George Rhoden, born and raised in Enfield, is the perfect man for the job.

George was the head of a specialist unit in the serious and organised crime command, based at New Scotland Yard, a former hostage and crisis negotiator and an armed close protection inspector.

The 54-year-old, who went to Kingsmead Secondary School, in Southbury Road, Enfield, was also a member of the British Police boxing team and led a team training senior police personnel in Mexico, where, according to George, "the murder rate is higher than the Middle East".

His reputation in the police service even led to him being invited to meet President Obama, an impressive CV for a "hunter".

Mr Rhoden, who now lives in Cheshunt, said: "Hunted is a real-life action thriller and this series has the added incentive of a lot of money.

"To avoid capture, the fugitives, who range in their skill sets, need to avoid using their phones and cash cards.

"They can't just stay inside for the

Just the man for the job:
George Rhoden

28 days. They have to come out and then we've got CCTV to help us track them down.

"CCTV is great for us, not just for the series, but for the police. It is the biggest asset in combating terrorism and organised crime. There's no doubt it's the thing we rely on."

As well as an interesting social experiment, about how people react to pressure, the second series, aired on Thursdays at 9pm, ask questions about the balance between security and freedom.

But one of the best things for George is the fan base it's given him at Kingsmead school.

"I go to Kingsmead and do academic mentoring with the pupils there. When I told them I was going to be on the show, they thought it was great."

The ending of the series is secret, but George will be giving a presentation to Southgate Rotary club members once the series has finished on Channel 4.

IS a political revolution coming? Will the Labour Party collapse? Can the kingdom stay united?

No, it's not 2016 in the wake of the Brexit referendum, it's 1974 – and Westminster is about to go to war with itself.

Set in the engine rooms of the House of Commons, James Graham's This House dives deep into the secret world of the whips who roll up their sleeves and go to often farcical lengths to influence an unruly chorus of MPs within the "mother of all parliaments".

Premiered to universal acclaim at the National Theatre in 2012, This House, directed by Headlong Theatre's artistic director Jeremy Herrin, gives us a timely, moving and often amusing insight into the workings of British politics.

We have two pairs of tickets to give away for the November 23 performance.

● To enter our competition, answer this question:

Who wrote This House?

- a) James Graham
- b) James Bond
- c) James Brown

Send your answer, with your name, address and a daytime telephone number, to: This House Competition, North London & Herts Newspapers, 187 Baker Street, Enfield, EN1 3JT, or send your answer, with contact details, to competitions@nlhnews.co.uk, with "This House" in the subject line, by noon on Thursday, November 3.

We want to hear your views about our proposed changes to the Paediatric Assessment Unit at Chase Farm Hospital

The Paediatric Assessment Unit (PAU) at Chase Farm Hospital takes referrals from GPs or other clinicians for children between 0-18 years old for a variety of minor illnesses, injuries or a worsening long-term condition like asthma. 94% of the children attending the Urgent Care Centre (UCC) at Chase Farm Hospital are managed within the UCC, with very few children referred into the PAU. Enfield Clinical Commissioning Group is proposing to close the PAU at the Chase Farm site and introduce a different model of care which will deliver better care for children.

The consultation started on Monday 17 October 2016 and closes on Sunday 15 January 2017.

Pc picks up a commendation

Congratulations: Borough police commander Detective Chief Superintendent Iain Raphael presents Pc Sam Lowe with his award celebrating 'the excellence of officers'

By Clare Casey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

AN off-duty cop who gave vital first aid to a victim with multiple stab wounds has been given an award for outstanding bravery.

Sam Lowe was one of 50 police officers who received commendations at the annual awards gala to celebrate the "excellence of officers" in Enfield, held at the Dugdale Centre, in London Road, Enfield Town, on Monday.

The ceremony, at which borough commander Detective Chief Superintendent Iain Raphael officiated, was held to honour officers – such as Pc Lowe – who have gone above and beyond the call of duty.

Pc Lowe, 23, joined the force in September last year.

He had just finished a shift in April when he discovered a young man with multiple stab wounds close to the police station in Fore Street, Edmonton.

Pc Lowe carried him into a nearby shop and applied pressure to the chest wounds, keeping the victim calm before back-up arrived.

He said: "I didn't have anything on me, my radio or anything, because I was off-duty. But the shopkeeper was really helpful. He got me towels and I applied pressure to the main wounds and kept him calm.

"He [the victim] was obviously very frightened, so I kept talking to him and talking to the paramedics, who were on their way."

The victim, who had stab wounds to the chest, head and hands, has since recovered from extensive injuries. The man responsible had been convicted of grievous bodily harm and given a prison sentence.

Pc Lowe, who received a second recommendation for work with the counter terrorism team, added: "I'm really pleased with the two awards I received. It's a great honour to be recommended by my sergeant."

Mr Raphael said afterwards: "I had the pleasure of attending and hosting my first commendation ceremony as borough commander of Enfield. The sheer number of recipients was a true testament to the relentless commitment of my officers and police staff to delivering the best possible service to the residents of Enfield."

"Our role is unpredictable, challenging and at times dangerous, so dedicating some time to recognising the amazing work we do is important. I was also delighted to meet some of the family and friends of the recipients and thank them for their constant support."

Warning over cut in housing benefit cap

TENANTS are being warned to ensure they keep up their rent payments when government benefit cap changes come into force next month.

The measure follows a previous cap which was introduced in April 2013.

Individuals or households receiving benefits with a higher value than the cap level will have their housing benefit or universal credit reduced, depending on their marital and parental status.

Yasemin Brett, Enfield Council's cabinet member for community, arts and culture, said: "The money will be taken from the housing benefit payments and anyone affected by the changes will have already been written to by the Department for Work and Pensions in order to explain how their housing benefit payments may change."

"We strongly recommend those at risk of not being able to pay their rent try to increase the number of hours they work, apply for all of the benefits they are entitled to and seek advice regarding money and debt management as a matter of urgency."

The maximum amount of benefits people receive is due to drop significantly – from £500 to £442.31 a week for people with children and from £350 to £296.35 a week for single people without children.

Those already affected by the cap will see their housing benefit or universal credit drop with immediate effect on November 7, while those who are affected for the first time will see reductions in their housing benefit from January 9 next year.

People can see if they are going to be affected by the changes through using the government's online benefit calculator, at www.gov.uk/benefit-cap

ACTOR Wil Johnson, who starred in the BBC TV series Waking the Dead, joined Edmonton MP Kate Osamor to see how youngsters with mental health issues are helped to cope by a programme of creative workshops.

They attended the final session on Friday of the Skip To The Beat scheme, which charity Young Urban Arts Foundation ran at Ponders End Youth Centre, in South Street, throughout last week.

Eight teenagers aged between 15 and 19 who suffer from conditions affecting their well-being, including depression and anxiety, signed up to the programme and others were referred by youth services.

They were able to express themselves through music production, writing – such as composing their own poetry – singing and rapping.

Wil, who grew up in Tottenham and played Detective Spencer Jordan in the TV show, which ran for nine series up to 2011, performed a monologue from his theatre show The Invisible Man.

He said: "It was an honour to spend a few hours with this talented bunch and have the privilege to not only do some very vital creative exercises with them, but I got to perform for them as well – truly an honour."

Kerry O'Brien, founder and chief executive of Young Urban Arts Foundation, started the workshops partly because of her own "volatile" upbringing with an alcoholic father who developed mental health issues.

She said music had "saved" her life and she wanted youngsters with mental health conditions to channel their negative feelings into the creative sessions.

"The workshops were about removing the stigma from mental health and helping teenagers to talk about their emotions and express themselves through different art forms," she said.

"At the end of the programme the teenagers said they felt a lot happier talking about their mental health. The sessions exceeded our expectations."

Fresh appeal – four years after killing

A FRESH appeal to find the killers of a man who was stabbed in Edmonton four years ago was launched by detectives last week on the anniversary of his death.

Teon Palmer, 28, from Lower Edmonton, died from a single stab wound to the chest in 2012. So far no suspects have been identified.

Police are offering a £20,000 reward for information leading to the identification, arrest and prosecution of those involved.

Officers were called to reports of an assault in Montagu Road, at the junction with Goodwin Road, at about 11.10pm on October 20, 2012.

It is believed that a car belonging to Mr Palmer had all four tyres slashed before the assault. A number of men described as wearing hooded tops or jackets were seen making off from the scene.

Four men who were arrested in connection with the murder investigation in 2012 were released with no further action.

Detective Inspector John Marriott, from the Homicide and Major Crime Command, said:

"I strongly believe that there are people, who were not there that night, who know who stabbed Teon. I urge them to contact us."

"A substantial reward remains in place." Anyone with information should contact the incident room on 020 8345 1570 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

What's on and what's coming

Take your pick from classic and kitsch...

The Nutcracker at the Millfield – or Rock of Ages at the Dugdale (or both)?

The Nutcracker, Millfield Theatre, Sunday, October 30

YOU know Christmas is just round the corner when somebody mentions The Nutcracker – and the classic ballet is coming to Edmontons's Millfield Theatre on Sunday.

Tchaikovsky's masterpiece, first performed in Moscow in 1892, is being brought to the Millfield by the acclaimed Vienna Festival Ballet Company (VFB), with performances at 1pm and 5pm.

The enchanting tale of The Nutcracker is one of the world's best-loved ballets. The action centres around Clara and her Nutcracker doll, which is magically transformed into a princely soldier at the end of a lavish Christmas party.

Their adventures see Clara and the Nutcracker doll combat the sinister Mouse King and join the Sugar Plum Fairy and her Cavalier on a wonderful journey through the shimmering Land of Snow to a kingdom made entirely of sweets.

VFB was founded by Austrian dancer Peter Mallek in 1980 after his end of his career as a dancer.

A spokesman said: "Now in its 37th year of producing quality ballet productions, the company continues to experience remarkable success and perform great classical ballets all over the world."

"VFB is known for beautiful and lavish hand-made costumes as well as a commitment to bringing the greatest classical ballets to the widest possible audience. The company's productions have all the elegance and extravagance associated with the best of ballet."

"Notable for the continued freshness and strength of its dancing casts, VFB attracts highly talented dancers from all over the world."

Christmas cracker: A scene from classic ballet The Nutcracker

Rock of Ages, Dugdale Centre, Until Saturday

MEMORABLE for shaggy mullets and overblown chorus-singing anthems, the instantly recognisable sounds of glam rock bands of the 1980s form the soundtrack to the musical Rock of Ages.

Performed by Finchley and Friern Barnet Operatic Society at the Dugdale Centre, in Enfield Town, the production opened on Monday with shows daily at 7.30pm and runs until Saturday (when there's a matinee at 2.30pm).

A parody which manages to both glory and lampoon the rock genre it's based on, it features power ballads such as I've Been Waiting for a Girl Like You, by Foreigner, and We Built this City, by Starship, and rock anthems like Here I Go Again, by Whitesnake, We're Not Gonna Take It, by Twisted Sister, and The Final Countdown, by Europe.

The FFBOS uses the intimacy of the Dugdale to the full, even allowing the audience to buy drinks from the on-stage live bar before curtain up and during the interval.

"We're excited to put our own spin on it and give audiences a real fun and nostalgic treat," said FFBOS spokesman Chris Henry.

"The show contains songs that are universally popular with many people, so if you haven't booked, we do urge you to get a ticket soon," he added.

Tickets are available the Dugdale box office on 020 8807 6680 or online at www.dugdalecentre.co.uk

Doctor's orders

Magic: Doctor Stephen Strange (Benedict Cumberbatch)

DOCTOR STRANGE (12A, 115 mins)

THE Marvel Comics universe is expanding at a frightening rate on the big screen.

In 2016, we have already been served Deadpool, Captain America: Civil War and X-Men: Apocalypse and, over the next three years, we can expect sequels, spin-offs and reboots for Wolverine, Guardians Of The Galaxy, Spider-Man, Thor, Black Panther, the Avengers, Deadpool, Ant-Man and Captain Marvel.

Capping off this year with a blitzkrieg of digital effects wizardry is the superhero fantasy Doctor Strange, directed by Scott Derrickson (Sinister).

Stephen Strange (Benedict Cumberbatch) is a brilliant and somewhat arrogant neurosurgeon, with a seemingly perfect life and a burgeoning romance with fellow medic Christine Palmer (Rachel McAdams).

Years of meticulous study are thrown into disarray when Strange is involved in a terrible car accident that robs him of the use of his hands.

Cast adrift from the world of medicine, Strange searches for answers to his plight in the world of spirituality and he encounters an enigmatic Celtic shaman The Ancient One (Tilda Swinton), leader of a covert group, which harnesses the mystic arts to shape reality.

Two of these masters, Karl Mordo (Chiwe-tel Ejiofor) and Wong (Benedict Wong), take Strange under their wing and spearhead his accelerated training so he can unlock his hidden potential to travel long distances in the blink of an eye or slip between parallel realities.

As his confidence grows, Strange learns about a former master Kaecilius (Mads Mikkelsen), who strayed from the path of righteousness and now uses his powers for destruction and evil.

When Kaecilius threatens Strange's old life, including the beautiful Christine, the medic must put his training into practice to save everything he holds dear.

Terlings Park the perfect location for London commuters Phil and Carolyn

A commuting couple has found the perfect rural retreat for their young family at a Bloor Homes development in Hertfordshire.

For the last six years, Phil and Carolyn Offord have lived in a rented two-bedroom flat on the site of Arsenal's former Highbury football stadium in Islington, North London.

In many ways, it was the perfect home for Gunners fans Phil, 43, and Carolyn, 44.

But following the arrival of their sons, Cooper, 3, and Louis, 1, the couple decided it was time to move out of the city and escape to the country, while still remaining within easy commuting distance of the capital.

And their search led them to Terlings Park in Gilston, which boasts an idyllic countryside location as well as excellent rail links to the capital.

Trains from nearby Harlow Town take just over 30 minutes to get to Liverpool Street Station, from where it is only a short walk to marketing director Carolyn's office in Shoreditch.

Phil, a retail manager who works across the London area, said: "As an Arsenal fan it was great to live on the site of the old ground and within walking distance of the new stadium, but with two young kids we felt it was time to get out of the city in search of some fresh country air, a bigger house and a more relaxed lifestyle.

"What we were looking for was somewhere with a commute to Liverpool Street and Terlings Park fitted the bill perfectly.

"What really attracted us to the development was the layout of the houses and the fact there is lots of open space around them. Not every square inch of land is filled with houses, which is quite often the case at new developments, particularly in this part of the country.

"As someone who grew up in a small village in Scotland and has lived in big cities for the past 15 years, it's great to be back in the country and to see wild ducks waddling around when I look out of the window.

"We have the best of both worlds here. We live in a small village with a strong community feel but just down the road is Harlow which has the train station, great retail parks and all the facilities you require. And I can still get to Arsenal home games in about an hour."

Phil and Carolyn purchased their new five-bedroom detached Montagu house for around £700,000, with a mortgage which is costing them about the same per month as they were paying in rent for their flat in Islington.

Phil added: "We have got a lot more for our money here and one of the things that drew us to this house was the three-storey layout. The boys have got the top floor to themselves, we are going to turn one room on the first floor into a cinema/family room and then on the ground floor we have got the large kitchen for entertaining."

There is currently a selection of four and five-bedroom homes available at Terlings Park, priced from £690,000. Call 01279 883814 or visit bloorhomes.com for more information.

For further information contact Laura White, Account Manager at Aylesworth Fleming, on 0116 303 3300 ext 329 or email laurawhite@AFagency.co.uk

Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

- "Classified" Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed "Trade Advertisers", and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

- To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1997, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as "trade", "dealer", "agent", "wholesaler", "IT" etc. in the advertisement.

- The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

- (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;

- (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or

- (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

- The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

- Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be changed to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

- The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

- Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

- All gross advertising rates (except classified listings and semi-displays) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

- All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

- Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

- The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

- Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

- All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

- (1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

- (2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

- Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

BOSS WANTS MORE DEPTH

By Dominique Stafford

sport.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

MANAGER Mauricio Pochettino admits that Tottenham Hotspur could potentially lack the depth in their squad to make a genuine challenge to win the Premier League this season.

Spurs were contenders for the title for much of last season before fading away in the closing stages to end up in third place, and Pochettino brought in a number of new faces over the summer in a bid to bolster their ranks – with the club facing the additional pressure of playing in the Champions League.

Tottenham have made an encouraging start to the new campaign and remain the only unbeaten team in the Premier Division, but they have now gone three matches without a win in all competitions and Saturday's 0-0 draw at Bournemouth saw them drop to fifth in an extremely congested top end of the table.

The draw follows on from an equally frustrating stalemate at West Bromwich Albion in their previous league outing, and Pochettino is aware that they cannot afford to keep on dropping points if they do want to be crowned champions this time around.

"We missed a bit of freshness that you need in the first 15 minutes," he said. "If we want to be contenders, we need to win games like these."

"We were much better than them in the second half, but you have to score if you want to win the game. Maybe we need more depth in the squad to avoid a situation like the first 15 minutes."

"We spoke about the game beforehand and it was how we expected it to be against an energetic team. It was tough for us at the start of the game because they pushed us a lot."

"Our defensive record is very

Two dropped points: Mauricio Pochettino was frustrated that Tottenham drew against Bournemouth good, but with the way we defend and don't concede chances or goals it's important to score and to win. I'm disappointed because we created chances and had possibilities to score."

And right-back Kyle Walker, who made his 200th appearance for Spurs at Bournemouth, admits that the side need to get better at breaking down teams who are content to sit back and generally play for a point.

"They came at us in the first half, showed good intensity and perhaps caught us off guard," he said. "We defended well and kept another clean sheet, but we couldn't find the finishing touch."

"It was compact out there. Dele Alli didn't have much space and they crowded us out. It's a learning curve for us. We'll come up against this a lot this season – teams will be more defensive so we have to be cute and try to break them down."

"When I first came to the club there were six full-backs here, so to think I'm the only one left out of that bunch, I guess that's credit to myself."

"It's a great club, it's my home now. I've fully enjoyed my time here and hopefully there are another 200 appearances to come."

Skolars to begin league bid with historic Toronto match

THE London Skolars will be involved a small piece of sporting history next year when they launch their campaign in rugby league's Kingstone Press Championship One by entertaining the newly formed Toronto Wolfpack.

The fixtures for the 2017 season were unveiled on Monday and the Skolars will start off on March 4 by being the first side to face a Toronto outfit who are not only Canada's first professional rugby team but also the world's first transatlantic major professional sports team.

The Skolars then make the trip to Newcastle

Thunder the following week before hosting Coventry Bears as they look to build on their encouraging form of this year.

The rebranded championship sees teams only facing each other once before the league splits into two groups of eight for the closing part of the season.

A club spokesman said: "The 2017 season is shaping up to be the most competitive to date, with a host of traditional northern powerhouses accompanied by the fully professional Toronto Wolfpack."

"Some southern clubs such as South Wales and Hemel Hempstead have re-branded, and they will be looking to build upon this."

Meanwhile, Skolars' captain Dave Williams has re-signed with the club for the 2017 campaign.

The club spokesman added: "Dave re-signs on the back of a very strong 2016, appearing in almost all of the games despite picking up a knee injury midway through the season which would have sidelined most players."

"During this year he also racked up his 100th appearance for the club. His tireless work-rate and bone-rattling defence earned him the ultimate respect of his peers as they voted him their 2016 player of the year."

Borough pick up a point at high-fliers

HARINGEY BOROUGH came from behind to secure a deserved 1-1 draw from their trip to high-flying Cheshunt in Ryman League Division One North on Saturday.

Languishing in the lower reaches of the table, Borough began as clear underdogs against a side who lie in second place and they looked to be in for a long afternoon when they fell behind after just two minutes.

But, to their immense credit, the visitors refused to lie down and a Dean Fenton goal early in the second half ensured that they did get some reward for their efforts.

Borough had barely got into their stride before they fell behind as Cheshunt struck in the first attack of the match – Billy Jones racing away from his marker and beating keeper Harry Palmer with a clinical low finish.

However, the hosts were unable to build on their early goal and the rest of the first half proved to be fairly even, with neither keeper seriously tested again as Borough more than held their own.

The visitors then made a blistering start to the second period and were rewarded with the equaliser on 47 minutes – a good spell of pressure ending with Fenton scoring from close range.

Fenton had the ball in the net again, but his goal was ruled out for a foul and Borough never really threatened again after this.

Instead, the visitors were forced on the defensive as Cheshunt piled on the pressure in the closing stages, but they managed to hold firm – with Palmer making one stunning save to ensure that they avoided defeat.
